

Connected Workforce Data. Clearer Paths.

Today's Reality

Individuals often make education and career decisions with incomplete information. Important data exists, but it's spread across disconnected systems, making it difficult to compare options or understand likely outcomes.

When that data is connected, individuals gain clearer information about pathways through education and employment, and policymakers gain the evidence to strengthen the workforce for everyone.

Succeed
Move confidently into the workforce with better visibility into future opportunities.

Randall
Veteran / Reskiller
How do I turn my experience into a civilian career?

MANY POSSIBLE DIRECTIONS

Explore
Discover opportunities that align with interests, experience, and local workforce needs.

Learn
Compare education and training options, then build the skills people need to move forward.

INFORMATION CLARIFIES OPTIONS

SKILLS BECOME CREDENTIALS

VERIFIED SKILLS
Credentials connect education to real workforce opportunities.

CAREERS THAT FIT

Raj
Early Worker
What's my next step—and what will it take to get there?

COMPARE PROGRAMS
See how people on similar paths fare after they graduate.

Grace
College Student
Which path gives me the best opportunity after graduation?

CAREER EXPLORER
Compare local careers, wages, and education pathways.

OUTCOMES INFORM THE FUTURE
Workforce outcomes data helps improve pathways for the next generation.

Improve

Enable better decisions.

Understand

With connected data, leaders can:

Anticipate Needs

Identify workforce shortages before they become critical.

Guide Investments

Prioritize programs that lead to strong career outcomes.

Measure Impact

Evaluate the return on education and workforce investments.

What's at Stake

Connected data helps leaders identify what works, invest more effectively, and strengthen pathways for every learner and worker.

The Foundation

The Complex Data Ecosystem

Workforce data exists but lives in disconnected systems. No single source shows the whole picture. But, when brought together, this data can help leaders support meaningful workforce pathways.

Discover
Collect data.

Connect

Connect data through an SLDS.

